DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1, 8, 15, and 22 recite the limitations "terminal" and "another terminal".
"terminal" (claim 1, lines 2 and 20; claim 8, lines 2, 21, 24; claim 15, lines 2, 4, 15, 16; claim 22, lines 3, 5, 17);
"another terminal" (claim 1, lines 7, 17, 20; claim 8, lines 8, 18; claim 15, line 13; claim 22, line 14).

There is insufficient antecedent basis for these limitations in the claim.

In many of the cited instances above, it is not clear in the claim language if references to "terminal" and "another terminal" are to a separate terminal or if the references are to the same terminal.

3. In addition, there are various punctuation omissions from the claim language that render the claim language unclear.

For example:

Art Unit: 2141

"An information transfer apparatus transferring to a predetermined terminal information transmitted from a server" (claim 1, lines 1 – 2; claim 8, lines 1 – 2; claim 15, lines 1 – 2; similarly in claim 22, lines 1 - 3).

Applicant is urged to check the claim language for similar punctuation omissions.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

5. The claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Independent claim 22 is directed to software that is not implemented on a computer readable medium.

Data structures not claimed as embodied in computer-readable media are descriptive material per se and are not statutory because they are not capable of causing functional change in the computer. See, e.g., Warmerdam, 33 F.3d at 1361, 31 USPQ2d at 1760 (claim to a data structure per se held nonstatutory). Such claimed data structures do not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and other claimed aspects of the invention which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized. In contrast, a claimed computer-readable medium encoded with a data structure defines structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and the computer software and hardware components which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized, and is thus statutory.

Art Unit: 2141
